

Origami Club

The Origami club of the mathematics department is now in its third year. It is open to all who are interested in paper folding, irrespective of the level of expertise. We meet in room 220 (Math Center) in the main math building at 3.30 PM on Tuesdays. I select one design each week. The practice paper is free. The origami paper can be bought for 10 cents a sheet or you can bring your own paper. I have a folder with all the previous designs we have folded. You can select any one of them to fold as well. I am experimenting posting the design files on the web. THESE ARE FOR PERSONAL FOLDING ONLY. Any other use of the files should first be cleared with the authors. Come join us on Tuesdays!

In December, I had cataract surgery on one eye and am not able to fold just as yet. Hence the start of the Origami club for Spring 2008 is postponed at least until January 31-st. Watch for this announcement to see when it will actually start.
