

Math in the wild: leaves, flowers, and sea-slugs
Shankar Venkataramani

Abstract: This talk is mostly about the process of research. I will talk about how these natural objects motivate interesting(!) and deep (!!) mathematical questions, that touch upon analysis, geometry, and "discrete" topology.